

ABSTRACT

A method and apparatus for facilitating direct access to computer resources by a peripheral device while the computer's CPU is in a sleeping state. Said method and apparatus comprising a configurable link to enable a peripheral device to become the default system bus master when the main CPU is in a sleep state.

006221" 2245460